

DIRECTIONS: Interview three American students. You should interview at least one person of each gender. Please ask if the student has already been interviewed for this project. You should interview a person who has NOT already been interviewed.

You should always ask follow-up questions to make the answers more interesting and complete. ("I put on a costume and went trick-or-treating" is not a complete answer). If the interviewee is too busy to give complete and interesting answers, you should interview a different person.
