

Misato Morino
9/29/15
CLSK121, 7th period
Prof. Hunter
Draft #1

The qualities of good roommates are important to lead fulfilling as a student everyday. First, good roommates don't disturb other students lives. Some students temp to be affected their roommates's behaviors. Good roommates should not make noise too much and interrupt other's works; for example, the work is studying and sleeping. Then, roommates should not be lazy, they should clean and keep their room, study hard, get up early in the morning. Roommates's life style will make your life neat. Second, if your roommates have a common hobby, it will be easy to get along with each other. You can share something related of your common hobby and enjoy it. It also saves money. Third, roommates who try new things everyday will give you many opportunities. After undergoing new things, he can get new knowledge and experiences. He may invite you for his new challenge, then you can open the door to new world with him. In addition, new experiences will let you get opportunities to see and talk with many people. Exchange opinion with many people will develop yourself absolutely. Consider what characteristic is needed to your roommates to enjoy your student life and develop yourself in the school.